

RUSSIANS STILL BEING PUSHED

Austro-German Forces Hurled
Them Across Frontier
Into Own Land

TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Gailla River is Crossed and Von Linsingen is Said to be Astride Great Railway Line.

Petrograd, June 30.—Admission is frankly made by the war office today that there have been further withdrawals of the Russian forces before the advancing Austro-German armies.

But there is no evidence that the morale of the Russian army has been weakened. The military observers here are confident that Russian strategy has inflicted tremendous losses on the enemy without weakening the power of effectiveness of the grand duke's war machine for the ultimate drive.

Premier Goremykin has issued the following manifesto:

"With the help of God, Russia will continue the fight until her enemies are completely crushed. Until that time peace is impossible."

The manifesto is generally construed as an answer to statements appearing in the German press that Russia is weary of the war and ready to sue for peace.

"On all sides we find assurance that cannot be shaken in a brilliant future for Russian arms," the premier declared. "Let us strengthen our hearts and our resolution to carry on the struggle with divine help until our triumph is completed."

"With firm faith in the inexhaustible strength of Russia, I anticipate that governmental institutions, Russian industries, and the faithful sons of the Fatherland, without class distinctions, will work in harmony to meet the needs of the army. Henceforth this is our only problem—to direct all our thoughts to a united Russia, invincible in her unity."

London, June 30.—Driven back over their own frontier north of Lemberg and forced to cross the river Gnila Lipa, in Southeast Galicia, the Russian armies continue to retreat before the Austro-German forces along a front of approximately 250 miles. Berlin records progress in virtually the entire southeastern theater, although, violent fighting still is in progress beyond the Gnila Lipa which joins the Dniester at Halicz.

Having forced a passage of this stream, General von Linsingen's army is presumably astride the railway running from Halicz to Lemberg and Stanislaw, and now doubtless is aiming at the line which runs from Lemberg to Odessa through Tarnopol.

It seems evident that Germany is bent on further punishment for the Russians before relaxing the intensity of her Galician campaign, but with the Russians across the frontier the Germans will have to rely almost solely on road transport, and their advance will be slower.

The British press still voices the hope that the Russians soon will find a tenable line and deliver a counter-blow but there is a note of anxiety in nearly all the accounts, together with the warning that either the capture of Warsaw or the seizure of the great railway lines which supply it would be disastrous to Russia, and surely would be followed by another general German offensive in the west.

Notwithstanding the French attacks around Arras, it is argued that the Germans must feel comparatively secure in the west, else they would not have risked their tremendous enveloping move against the Russians. The French are persisting in their assaults in the neighborhood of Arras but without appreciable change to the situation.

HURETA TO MAKE DEMAND.

To Insist Government Prosecute the Case at Once or Set Him Free.

El Paso, Texas, June 30.—General Huerta will insist that the United States Government show its hand at once or free him of the charge of conspiring to start a new Mexican revolution.

The former dictator's attorneys announce today that Huerta will waive examination at tomorrow's preliminary examination. They will ask that the Federal grand jury proceed at once to investigate the claims of Villa agents.

Huerta burst into a rage today when asked about the reported statement of Gen. Pascual Orozco, one of his lieutenants, that Huerta "had come to the border to do a little fighting and intended to do it." He said Orozco was only joking.

Despite this statement, Federal officials are keeping close watch both on Huerta's movements and on those of other former Mexican federal officers here. Some uneasiness was caused by the fact that Gen. Felix Diaz slipped into El Paso last night, eluded investigators, and disappeared. It is believed Diaz may have crossed the border to take Huerta's place at the head of the new revolution.

WILL ARRAIGN FORNEY

Schneider to be on Hand in Order to Testify

Pittsburgh, June 30.—Arrangements are being made this morning for the arraignment of Thomas G. Forney, Washington attorney, and George McHenry in the alleged murder plot against the life of T. Franklin Schneider, the millionaire candy maker and real estate owner of the National Capital.

Mr. Schneider telephoned the police shortly before 10 o'clock that he had returned to Pittsburgh and would be on hand for the arraignment which will be held during the day before Police Judge Sweeney.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh police have notified the Washington authorities to look out for the "Bill" mentioned in the promissory note for $4,000 which McHenry says Forney gave him in connection with the murder plot.

BOY SLAYER HEARS DOOM.

Unmoved When Sentenced to the Electric Chair.

Huntington Pa., June 30.—Only intervention in his behalf by the Governor or Board of Pardons lies between Adam Snyder, the Johnstown youth, and death by electrocution. He was sentenced to death yesterday for the murder, January 6, of Mrs. Rebecca Port, wife of a prominent Huntingdon county farmer. The doomed boy's counsel made no effort to secure a new trial for him when he was convicted May 15.

ASSERTS INNOCENCE

Witnesses Take Stand in Defense of Midshipman R. M. Nelson—Attempts to Show Cheating

Annapolis, Md., June 30.—Midshipman James E. Moss, of the former third class at the United States Naval Academy, whose distribution of information contained in paper he claimed to have received from an anonymous source, and which the academy authorities charge were stolen examinations, led to Superintendent Fullam's recommendation that Moss and six other midshipmen be dismissed, testified yesterday before the court of inquiry investigating the matter.

Moss said he received five papers relating to Spanish and French in a plain envelope which had been dropped in a small box at the academy and delivered to him. He did not suspect they were examinations to be given, he said, but thought they might have been sent by some friend, with the idea that they would be helpful.

Moss said no midshipman who had seen the papers gave him any indication that he thought they were advance copies of examinations. However, in response to a question by the judge-advocate the witness said the papers appeared to be examinations, and so far as he knew, were not old examinations.

On one occasion, Moss declared past examinations in mathematics with problems worked out for him had been sent to him by Instructor King, of the department of mathematics. The witness said his father, Robert Moss, of counsel for the defendant midshipmen, recently had received from King an affidavit setting forth that the instructor had mailed such instructions to the midshipman. An envelope was put in evidence which Moss said was addressed to Instructor King's handwriting, and had contained the mathematic papers.

Witnesses were put on the stand in defense of Midshipmen R. M. Nelson, an honor man of last year's first class and one of the seven defendants recommended for dismissal by Superintendent Fullam. All, with one exception, testified that they were asked to visit Nelson's room when they were found to be in danger of failing in their studies. Nelson is the midshipman who, it is alleged, made a practice of coaching backward students.

An attempt was made to show that Ensign John L. McCrea, of last year's graduating class, had cheated in the study room during the last academic year. Ensign H. V. Wiley testified that he had been asked by Ensign R. Burben, one of the defendants in the present proceedings,

GRAND DUKE REINSTATED

Czar Reconciled to Brother Because of His Bravery

Paris, June 30.—As a reward for his bravery and great practical skill during the Carpathian battles, the Czar has reinstated his brother, Grand Duke Michael, to all the court honors of which he was divested in 1911 for marryingmorganatically the Countess Brassoff. After the war they will be allowed their full rights of precedence in the Petrograd court.

Queen Denies Interview.

Stockholm, June 30.—Queen Victoria today authorized an official denial of the statement that while in Berlin recently she declared she sympathized with Germany and "was willing to let the whole world know it."

The statement was printed in the Berliner Tageblatt and caused the Queen much embarrassment.

WANTS A SANE FOURTH.

State Health Board in Special Warning Calls Attention to Heavy Casualties July 4.

Richmond, Va., June 30.—Unless there is a return to the vigilance shown some years ago in observing a "Sane Fourth," the State Board of Health, in a special warning issued today, predicts that there will be increasing casualties this year in celebrating the great American holiday.

The bulletin of the board reads, in part, as follows: "The people of the Commonwealth are strongly urged to do their part this year in observing July 4th with celebrations which will not endanger life and limb. Attention is again directed to the fact that failure to do this in past years has cost many hundred their vision or the use of their limbs."

"According to the statistics compiled by the American Medical Association figures show that despite the agitation of the last few years, the casualties from accidents on July 4th, 1914, were higher than they had been since 1911. The reason is that the low record made in 1912, when only 41 were killed and 945 injured, gave a false sense of security. Unless the press again arouses people to the danger, we shall soon revert to the conditions that were a national disgrace prior to 1911."

"The only safe rule to follow is to take no chances. This applies particularly to parents parents whose children, with the heedlessness of immaturity, beg for the privilege of exploding fire works and toy cannon. If these parents yield and an accident follows, they blame themselves for the shattered hands or the lost vision or the maimed bodies of their children. If the parents turn the celebration into some other channels than fireworks, they can readily avert the danger. The Board would like to see this rule universally applied in Virginia."

"The casualties seldom impress because they are scattered over a large country for a number of years. But it is worth while noting that during the Fourth-of-July celebrations in America during the past ten years there were more casualties than in the great battle of Neve Chapelle, where the British and the German struggled for four days. This is a horrible indictment of American common sense."

MEN MAY WALK OUT

Head of Machinists Says Workers Will Not Stand Cut.

"I am satisfied the reduction will not become effective, but if it does it means a suspension of operations at the Navy Yard." This was the statement of William H. Johnston, general president of the International Association of Machinists, yesterday in discussing the proposed cut in pay at the Washington Navy Yard.

"We can place 5,000 men tomorrow in better positions than the government gives them here," he continued. "The machinists will not tolerate it. Secretary Redfield said not long ago that if any private plant should reduce the wages of men the government would investigate thoroughly and ascertain the necessity. Now we come face to face with the government itself reducing wages."

"Our proposition to Secretary Daniels is to allow the wages to remain as at present and increase the men at Indian Head. The appropriation available will permit of this for eight or nine months, and Congress which then will be in session, can be asked for an additional appropriation."

It is believed Secretary Daniels will not recede from his present stand of reducing the men at the navy yard 8 cents a day and increasing the men at Indian Head.

A collision between the northbound train of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad Company and a lumber wagon at McClumny's Crossing, just north of Princess Anne, Md., about 12 o'clock yesterday morning, resulted in the instant death of James Hamblin and Fred Mathews, and in injury to the driver of the wagon, a negro named John Dale, which caused his death in the Peninsula General Hospital yesterday afternoon.

GERHARD EXPLAINS.

Neither Nation, He Says, Has Been Able to Realize Each Other's Viewpoint of Events.

Berlin, June 30.—Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, the attaché of the German Colonial Office, who was sent from the United States to Berlin by the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, to explain the views of the United States regarding the Lusitania case has published an article in Der Tag on "Germany and America" in which he says his experience convinced him that the two countries misunderstood each other.

"It is true," says Dr. Meyer-Gerhard, "that the American press, with some laudable exceptions, especially the German-American papers, have not succeeded in remaining neutral, but the influence of the press upon public opinion is some times greatly over-estimated. Doubtless large sections of the American people are friendly toward Germany, whose efficient organization is daily winning new friends and arousing interest in things German."

"One excellent effect of the war is upon German-Americans, who, without sacrifice of their loyalty to their adopted country, have shown strong remembrance of their descent, their education and their culture. Beside them, on the other side of the ocean, there are wide circles who sympathize with Germany."

Alluding to the discussion over the ammunition question, Dr. Meyer-Gerhard says:

"Germans often mistake large ammunition orders for filled orders. To a large extent, such orders are changing big factories into ammunition works. This is regrettable, but the writer is convinced that large parts of the American people disapprove of it. A popular vote would show a considerable majority against the practice. Germans must discriminate between business men accepting orders and the great mass of the American people."

"Equally there are Americans who condemn violation of Belgian neutrality and the sinking of the Lusitania, and are unable to understand the German idea of the real conditions, while Germans are unable to understand how Americans could travel on an ammunition ship."

"Both people are laboring under entirely different opinions. Both have lived heretofore in peace and friendship, and should continue so to live. There is no real reason for antagonism existing between them."

"Friendship between Germany and America," declared Dr. Meyer-Gerhard, "is a valuable possession for both nations, and it is worth while to take care that it be saved to both."

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Road Builder Found Under Overturned Machine

James Davis of Eckington, D. C., was killed in an automobile accident about 100 yards from Torreysons Station on the Washington-Virginia Electric railway Monday night. Davis was dead when found on the road, under the machine which he had been driving, the auto evidently having been overturned when it apparently got beyond control in coasting down a steep grade.

Shortly after 7 o'clock R. A. Boss, sr., R. A. Boss, Jr. and A. J. Simons discovered the vehicle on the road upside down. Davis was lying beneath a portion of the heavy two inch pipes which had been in the machine. The men lifted the pipes off him and called for Dr. T. M. Talbott, near Falls Church. Dr. Talbott found that the man's neck had been broken and said he had been dead probably half an hour.

Everything pointed to an accidental death and the Alexandria county authorities decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Davis leaves a wife and five little children. He was thirty years of age and was employed at the time of his death by M. L. Johnson of Arlington, Va., a road builder and contractor.

JURY RENDERS AWARD

Parents of Boy Killed on Trestle
Get Only Compensatory
Damages

In connection with the suit for $10,000 damages claimed on account of the death of Burt Ward on December 21, 1914, by being run down by one of the trains of the Washington and Old Dominion Railway upon a bridge near Rosslyn, a jury yesterday in Alexandria county before Justice Thornton, assessed $3,000 damages. The parents brought the suit.

Young Ward was crossing a trestle near Rosslyn when he was struck and killed. It was contended by witnesses that the motorman was not giving attention to his car, but looking into the interior of the car talking to the conductor.

On behalf of the company, it was contended that as a corporation could only act through its agents no exemplary damages could be obtained and that the recovery must be limited to compensatory damages.

KEEPING GERMANY POSTED

Giving Notice of the Sailing of American Ships

Washington, June 30.—The United States government has adopted the practice of notifying the German Admiralty through Ambassador Gerard of the time of departure of every passenger ship sailing the American flag and approximately the hours during which it will pass through the war zone.

This precaution is being taken in order that German submarines commanders may be on the watch for American vessels and prevent a repetition of the attack on the American steamship Gulfight, which was torpedoed by a German submarine commander who supposed the vessel was a British ship, because it was in company of two English patrol boats and the American flag was not observed until after the torpedo had been fired.

Officers here believe that if the German Admiralty sends to its submarine commanders notification of what American passenger ships are passing through the war zone there can be no doubt of their identity.

APPEAR AT CORNISH

President Wilson Spends Day on Letters—Report That Reply From Berlin Will be Favorable.

Cornish, N. H., June 30.—An unsuccessful effort was made yesterday to arrange an interview here between President Wilson and General Felipe Angeles, the Mexican leader, who recently came to the United States and who wants to give the President his view of conditions in Mexico and to suggest a way of meeting Mr. Wilson's warning that the situation there must change.

Colonel Jesus M. Aguilar and Major Yreco A. Garcia, who said they were members, respectively, of the staff of General Angeles and General Raoul Madero, arrived during the afternoon, bearing letters of introduction from General Madero and General Angeles, but were told that details of the Mexican situation were being handled by the State Department at Washington, and that it would be impossible for General Angeles to see the President here.

The two Mexicans denied reports that General Angeles was connected with General Victoriano Huerta in any movement to start another revolution in Mexico. They said that General Angeles and General Villan are still warm friends and that both would oppose Huerta to the end.

According to Aguilar and Garcia, both Generals Angeles and Villa favor the selection of Vasquez Tagle, the only member of the Madero Cabinet who did not resign, for provisional President of Mexico. The Villa leaders are hopeful, they said, that Tagle can be agreed upon, and be recognized by the United States.

The arrival in this small New England town of the two Mexicans, wearing broad-brimmed sombreros, caused a flurry of excitement. They said they had come directly from Boston, where they had met General Angeles. After learning that their mission here was a failure, they said they would return to Washington in the near future to report to General Angeles.

The visitors declared that strong efforts are being made by the Villa leaders to bring about an agreement between the different factions, but that General Carranza would not negotiate with Villa.

REVIEW BOARD ORGANIZE

Hold First Meeting Last Night at Robinson Moncreux's Office, South Royal Street.

The local board of tax review, recently appointed by Judge L. C. Barley, of the Corporation Court, and forming an important part of the machinery for the administration of the new tax laws, held its first meeting last night and organized with the election of Robinson Moncreux as chairman. Nevell S. Greenaway, clerk of the courts is ex-officio secretary and clerk and during his absence in California his work will be performed by Reginald Cox, his deputy. The other members of the board are E. E. Lawler and Clinton S. Balenger.

At last night's meeting three of the tangible personal property books, the city land book and certain of the records in the office of the commissioner of revenue were examined. The books of Charles H. Callahan, commissioner of revenue, were gone over and the chairman states were found correct and in excellent condition.

The board decided to hold its next meeting on July 14th, at which time only uncontested matters will be taken up. Later on when the contested cases are heard public meetings will be held either in the Corporation court room or in the chamber of common council. It is expected that all the contested cases will be over either real estate, intangible property or license assessments.

Attention is called to the fact that the last three mentioned assessments will not only be gone over by the board but will also be carefully scrutinized by W. N. Lipscomb, examiner of records.

Refrigerators—This is the time of the year when your health, your food and your purse are apt to suffer by a poor refrigerator. If you have an unsatisfactory one let us show you ours; if you have none at all we believe you will find our "Quality" and "Sanitary" Refrigerators the best. These two main points are sure:

Insulation—the composition packed in between the inner and outer cases, which preserves the low temperature. Our insulation is granulated cork—the best nonconductor of heat science has discovered.

Circulation—After the insulation assures cold air, the construction must be such as to grant it free circulation, or else your refrigerator is not good.

WAR INVOLVES FATE OF JEWS.

While race prejudice finds an uncongenial soil in America, it is indigenous in other places in the world and has been during many centuries. The thousands of Hebrews in the United States, where they hear not the oppressor's voice, often have their attention called to the terrible experience through which members of the race are passing in other climes, where Jew-baiting continues. The present war in Europe has brought additional distress to many, and they are kept moving from place to place under cruel conditions.

The fate of half the Jews of the world is trembling in the balance as a result of the great war in Europe, according to Rabbi Moses J. Gries, of Cleveland, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, who addressed its twenty-sixth convention at Charlevoix, Mich., yesterday.

"A crisis impends for Israel," said Rabbi Gries. "The million Jews of Eastern Europe are buffeted from persecutor to oppressor."

"All mankind has been made eyewitness to Belgium's misery and sorrow. Galicia and Poland suffer equal tragedy, but the world neither sees nor hears. Millions of Jews, always in want and wretchedness, now experience cruelty intensified. Hundreds of thousands are sacrificing their lives for their country, yet, even for the flag of the oppressor, and no promise of freedom is clearly spoken. The loyal offering of life, in a nation's cause, should quench the fire of anti-Semitism in Germany and Austria and kindle the light of freedom—with equal human rights in Russia."

"Not yet is there any abatement of Russian persecution, nor any change in the legal status, nor any removal of disabilities. Again thousands of Jews have been compelled to take up the staff of the wanderer, expelled from their homes and native villages, the aged and the infirm and mothers with unborn babes facing starvation and the danger of death. The outrageous inhumanities have stirred even a George Brandes to the indictment of Poland in the forum of nations, and Israel Zangwill proclaims, 'Polish Jews are living through one of the greatest tragedies in history.'"

"Again, in the face of world-wide misery, we discover ourselves unprepared and unorganized. To meet overwhelming disaster we endeavor to create national and international agencies. We are never ready, though Jews are ever in distress and have not yet escaped the yoke of the world's cruelty, oppression and persecution."

POISONING OF WELLS.

The methods of the Germans in poisoning the water supply when forced to retreat in South Africa which are described in a dispatch from a British officer at Aus, German Southwest Africa, brings to mind a number of sad scenes in connection with past wars.

Many years ago France had a tilt with Tunis. On that occasion the Tunisians caused the French great distress by poisoning the wells. The war occurred during the heated term and the Tunisians managed to place poison in virtually all the wells in the vicinity of hostilities, and the French soldiers, after causing the natives of the country to retreat, followed them up. The invaders were almost famished for water, but upon reaching wells they found them offering instant death to any one who drank of the water. It became necessary for the French to place guards at every well, as it was known that the soldiers, frantic from heat and thirst, would drink of the water, although they knew death would follow.

Distress after the first attack of all runs from lack of water. The federal soldiers had seized the wells and springs for the use of the wounded and horses, and soldiers were kept from them at the point of the bayonet.

We who live in a country where water is as free as the air we breathe have no realization of the discomfort often experienced in climes where water is a luxury. In the tropics it is necessary to boil most water before it can be used for drinking purposes. William Jennings Bryan, after making a tour of the world, delivered a lecture in the Opera House in Alexandria. He referred to the scarcity of drinking water in some countries, especially parts of India. On some occasions when suffering from thirst and heat, he and his party came to wells where there was an abundance of water, but of a quality which carried disease and probably death, and none of the party drank of it. He said none but those who have experienced it know the feeling occasioned by being compelled to pass by water when tortured by heat and thirst. The commoner said he longed for the time when he would be again beside the well in his home in Nebraska, where he could drink ad libitum.

DR. WILEY'S "DISCOVERY."

If the hat factories of the world were closed down now there wouldn't be a single baldheaded person in the next generation, in the opinion of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, health expert. Dr. Wiley, in all seriousness, yesterday laid the blame for shiny tops on the practice of wearing hats.

"I believe," said the doctor, "that if men would stop wearing tight-rimmed hats, that stop the proper circulation of blood to the head, we wouldn't have any bald heads. I would urge this upon small boys especially, that they may be saved the annoyance and often the embarrassment of a bald head."

Should the doctor's suggestion be generally adopted, a wail of woe would ascend from thousands who make their living by manufacturing and selling caputal coverings. But is it a fact that covering the head produces baldness? We prefer some further proof before discarding our hats. In ancient days most people did not wear head coverings. This is shown by paintings, statues and busts which have been unearthed in cities of bygone days. Many busts of the ancients show that philosophers, politicians and generals were as bald as those of our day. We have all read the story of the little ones who insulted the prophet Elisha by calling him a bald head.

PRESENT DAY OCEAN PERILS.

The iceberg, fog and derelict are standing menaces to ocean travel, although the thousands who have crossed and recrossed in past years have seldom realized these dangers, but have laid themselves down to sleep with but little thought of what might happen. It is not so now, however, and we read of passengers on ocean steamers sitting up all night in their staterooms ready for any eventuality. The dangers mentioned above fade when it is realized that when once the "war zone" is entered ships are in peril and likely to meet the fate of the giant Cunarder and her many passengers.

Extraordinary precautions to safeguard passenger lives in case of submarine attacks were taken by officers of the White Star liner Cymric which recently reached Liverpool from New York.

Every passenger aboard the liner was supplied with a life belt and taught how to put it on shortly after leaving New York. Under the direction of officers the passengers and crew were rehearsed in the act of getting quickly into the boats.

Entering the Irish Sea passengers were ordered to adjust their life belts, boats were swung out and made ready to be lowered instantly and double lookouts were established. Officers declare these precautions reassured some nervous passengers who feared the Cymric might meet the fate of the Lusitania.

ANIMOSITIES OF THE WAR.

The hatred of the warring nations against each other was manifested at the beginning of the present war. The Russians immediately changed the name of their capital from St. Petersburg to Petrograd, and when they invaded Hungary they changed the name of Przemysl to Peremyshl. The work of changing is still in progress, and the Germans, in retaliation, are taking steps to eliminate every word from the Teuton vocabulary which has a foreign root. The New York Tribune in referring to this movement says:

Since the beginning of the war there has been a strong movement in Germany to exclude words of foreign origin from common use. The German language is to be purified and thoroughly re-Germanized. Some persons in the Fatherland, however, are opposed to the change.

The German Reichstag recently passed a resolution requesting the Imperial Chancellor to cut all expressions of foreign origin out of the next annual budget. Dozens of good technical terms will have to be replaced with made-to-order Germanisms. The Reichstag will also have to reform its own vocabulary, and the army will hardly know itself when "artillerie," "kavallerie," "majoor," "leutnant," "feld Marshall" and a hundred other familiar technical terms are thrown into the discard.

NEWS OF THE DAY

An important diplomatic document, with reference to the war is being prepared by Pope Benedict XV.

The German losses in Galicia are estimated at 380,000 and the Austrian losses at approximately the same figure.

The Germans have seized the Swedish coasting steamer Brettington Sophia, with passengers and a general cargo, in the Baltic.

Travelers arriving at Zurich from Austria state that there is a great scarcity of food in Trieste and the population is upon the verge of starvation.

Jeremiah O'Donovan, better known as O'Donovan Rossa, Irish patriot and revolutionist, died in St. Vincent's Hospital, Staten Island, late yesterday.

King Constantine of Greece, who has been dangerously ill with pleurisy, has recovered to such an extent that the attending physician have given definite assurances of his recovery.

Four Bulgarian army officers have left Geneva for home, having been recalled by telegrams. All Bulgarian students in Switzerland of a military age have received notice to be prepared to leave immediately.

Montenegrin troops have occupied Scutari, the largest city of Albania. During the first Balkan war the Montenegrins captured Scutari, but in the following peace negotiations the coalition of the European powers decreed that the city should be returned to Albania.

The London Daily News reports that the Rome correspondent of the Piccolo, in a message from Constantinople, wires: "I have just received authentic news that the action of the Anglo-French fleet in the Dardanelles has been resumed with great violence and is meeting with important success."

A family feud over the estate left by Mrs. Nicholas Fredericks, one of the largest landowners in New Jersey, resulted yesterday in the killing of her son, John, by her son-in-law, Leonard Riker, a wealthy manufacturer of gold leaf in Passaic. Riker admitted the shooting and is now held in the county jail.

What may prove to be the first step toward conscription in England was taken yesterday when the Rt. Hon. W. H. Long introduced in Parliament the national register bill affecting every resident, male and female, between the ages of 15 and 65. The age, employment, and labor capabilities of each person will be listed by the government.

The German government has decided to adopt the same measures for the conservation of this year's crop of grain as were employed last year, expropriating all grain and fixing maximum prices for its sale. The expropriation will be in the hands of the communes, however, and the maximum prices will not be fixed until it is seen exactly how the harvest turns out. The same measures will apply to fodder.

Divorce proceedings by Mrs. Thomas G. Forney, wife of the Washington attorney imprisoned in Pittsburgh on a charge of assault to kill her father, Dr. Franklin Schneider, wealthy proprietor of the Cairo apartment house, will be instituted immediately upon the return of Mr. Schneider from Pittsburgh. Forney's wife yesterday shows her hatred for her husband in a signed statement over the signature, "Florence Schneider."

A certain "Mrs. Upton Sinclair" is named by Mrs. Winifred Raoul, 13, and prominent in Atlanta society, in a suit filed in Milan for divorce and alimony against William G. Raoul, Jr., a capitalist and socialist whom she married last January. In the petition "Mrs. Sinclair" is described as

"the woman who was generally known by the press as the soul-mate of the artist, Upton Sinclair, these parties living together without the ceremony of marriage having been performed until the woman was deserted by the said Sinclair."

E. C. Toothman, 40 years old, a merchant of Metz, W. Va., died at the Miners' Hospital, Fairmont, yesterday evening, making the second victim of an automobile accident which occurred yesterday at Haver's Crossing, above Mannington. Mr. Toothman's little son, Kinsey Lee, was killed instantly in the accident; his brother, Alvis, seriously hurt, and Miss Auda Ash slightly injured. Toothman was driving a car from his home at Metz to Mannington and was struck by a fast passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Something went wrong with the engine of the machine and Toothman lost control of it.

VIRGINIA NEWS

D. R. Dixon, a former well known accountant of Washington, was found dead yesterday morning in Central Park, Petersburg. It is said his death was caused by heart disease.

While fishing with two companions late yesterday afternoon on the Rivanna, near Duke's Curve, in the vicinity of Charlottesville, Granville Easton, aged 36 years, fell into the water and was drowned.

An automobile containing three women and a boy went over a 40-foot embankment at Parkersburg, W. Va., yesterday as a result of the machine skidding. The machine turned over four times, but Mrs. William Dexter was the only one injured, sustaining two fractured ribs.

The negro who attempted a criminal assault Monday morning on Mrs. Harvey Meade at Norton, Wise county, is still at large, and for the time being at least has escaped the enraged whites who have been hunting for him. Norton and the vicinity are now quiet. For some hours there was danger of lynching.

Surrounded by a posse near Maurice, Jackson county, Ind., and with escape cut off, Paris Hassan, 64 years old, a Turk, yesterday shot and seriously wounded George Royer, a farmer, and then killed himself with a revolver shot. Hassan Monday shot and killed William Fender, a Civil War veteran, at Guthrie when they quarreled over a swarm of bees.

Frank Difant, an Italian, on Monday night shot and probably fatally wounded another Italian named Peter Peccorori, at Hopewell, in Prince George county, nine miles from Petersburg. It is alleged that some weeks ago Peccorori eloped from New York with Difant's wife. Late Monday night Difant's wife was located in Petersburg, arrested and taken to Hopewell. She was found in a house on Halifax street, where it is alleged, she and Peccorori lived. Difant is said to be proprietor of a large liquor house in New York and has held political positions, among them that of deputy sheriff.

More than one million dollars will be distributed in Richmond tomorrow by the banks and trust companies, the city of Richmond and the State of Virginia. The amounts to be paid in dividends by the financial institutions, aggregate about $300,000. Interest to be paid by the State totals $420,000 and interest paid by the city approximately is $325,000. The dividends paid by the banks and insurance and trust companies are semi-annual. The First National Bank's dividend payment of $100,000 five per cent, semi-annual, on capital of $2,000,000 is the largest in the list. Planter's National Bank declares ten per cent, and the Union Bank, nine per cent, dividends.

The suit of the State of Virginia against John O. Bradley, former treasurer of Washington County, whose accounts were found short, to recover a balance of $16,026.12, was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court of the city of Richmond. Bradley is not indebted to the State to the amount sued for. The action is brought to protect the Commonwealth against possible losses. Attorney General John Garland Pollard brought the suit at the request of State Auditor C. Lee Moore. Mr. Moore explains that the object is to secure a speedy final settlement between the former treasurer and the State.

"QUEEN OF THE ADRIATIC."

Great War Brings Submarines in the "Streets" of Venice.

Submarines in the "streets" of Venice! It is another wonder of the great war!

For weeks this ancient Italian city—the city that is wedded to the sea—has been bustling with preparations for defense.

In the lagoon of Venice safely sheltered behind the Litorale di Malamocco, the narrow but strongly fortified strip of land that shuts out the Adriatic Sea, torpedo destroyers and submarines already are moored.

Even in the historical city itself, in the entrance of the Grand Canal, where it joins with the still grander Giudecca Canal, submarines and torpedo boats and their tenders are moored busy with preparations for war.

Venice with its 1,600 buildings, many of them of great beauty and historical interest, may be the scene of one of the most unique naval battles of the war.

Most of the city is built on an elaborate system of piling, with the water lapping against the stone steps and walls of the buildings.

Although in the majority of the canals and lagoons the water is only a few feet deep, yet in parts of the Grand Canal and the Giudecca Canal submarines of the enemy, if they dared, might creep in and torpedo many of the historical buildings that have made the city famous.

The Giudecca Canal, where some of Italy's seventy torpedo boats and twenty-five submarines are now moored preparing for the coming struggle with Austria, separates the long narrow island of Giudecca from the city of Venice proper. The canal is nearly a quarter of a mile wide.

But Venice is wonderfully fortified and Austrian submarines and torpedo boats would find it almost impossible to slip into the lagoon of Venice in the center of which the city lies.

FLYER'S SUCTION FATAL

Mother Whirled to Death, But Baby Escapes

Philadelphia, June 30.—So strong was the air suction created by a flying express train from the seashore that Mrs. Philomena Russo, 22 years old, was drawn bodily with her baby and its coach from the station platform at Newtonville, Atlantic county, and so badly hurt that she died Monday afternoon in Cooper Hospital, Camden. Strange to say the child wholly escaped injury although the coach was smashed.

Mrs. Russo was on her way to meet her young husband and stopped at the station, which is between Winslow and Richland, on the Reading's Atlantic City Railroad. She stood near the edge of the platform as the Wildwood express dashed by at giddy speed. Suddenly she lost her footing, was drawn in the wake of the disappearing train and whirled over and over, her baby in the coach following. Persons who witnessed the strange mishap, found the woman unconscious and another train carried her to Camden.

DRIVEN OUT OF TOWN

Plaintiff People Resent Attacks by Holy Rollers on Other Creeds

Plainfield, N. J., June 30.—Angered by attacks made against other creeds especially that of the Catholic Church a crowd of more than 500, including many women, gathered Monday night in Watchung Avenue, where the Holy Jumpers, known as the Pillar of Fire were holding a tent meeting. They drove the jumpers out of the city. Then they cut the guy ropes which held a large tent and would have burned the canvas had not the police intervened.

The band holding the meeting comprised men and women. The latter were allowed to leave in peace, but the men were stoned.

The jumpers who have been coming here live at Zerepath, near Bound Brook, the headquarters of the order.

FORCED WAR ON TURKEY.

Cabinet Members Did Not Know of Bombardment of Odessa.

It is beyond reasonable doubt that the Turkish Government was forced into war by the Germans. At least three of the most important members of the Turkish Cabinet knew nothing of the immediate act, the bombardment of Odessa, which led to the British and Russian Ambassadors demanding their passports. Being in Constantinople at the time I had a curious confirmation of this fact.

A friend had been invited to dine with two other friends, one of whom was intimate with Jemal, Minister of Marine, whom he had seen two hours before the time fixed for dinner. As dinner was announced, a telegram arrived stating that Odessa had been attacked by the Turkish fleet under the Germans. It created consternation among all present, and the host immediately declared that it meant immediate war. So anxious was he that he placed his ear at the disposal of the guest who knew Jemal in order that he might call again on the Minister to see whether he had received the news. After some delay, the guest found Jemal in Pera and showed him the telegram. Jemal became deathlike, and earnestly protesting his ignorance, replied to the remark that he as Minister of Marine was the man who before all others in the city ought to have known of such an act, swearing upon the head of his daughter—an oath which no Turk takes lightly—that he knew neither of the act nor the attempt. He added that he did not believe his colleagues knew.

Thereupon the Minister of the Interior, Talaat Bey, was telephoned to, and replied that he had heard nothing of the kind. Subsequently Jemal and his visitor got into communication with Enver Pasha, the Minister of War, who replied that he had just received a wireless from Russia informing him of the event. Subsequently the Grand Vizier, whom I cannot believe capable of telling a deliberate lie, declared that he also knew nothing of the attack. Turkey, in fact, was rushed into war by the precipitate action of Baron Wangenheim, the German Ambassador to the Sultan, and of Admiral Suchon, the German Commander of the Goeben. REV. DR. MERCER RESIGNS

Former Alexandria Pastor Assumes New Charge in North Carolina

At the morning service at the First Baptist church at Rocky Mount, N. C., last Sunday pastor, Dr. I. M. Mercer, declared his resignation of the pastorate, and announced that he would on August 1 assume the pastorate of the First Church and the orphanage church at Thomasville.

Eight years ago last April Dr. Mercer assumed the pastorate of the First church at Rocky Mount, and at that time he took over the leadership of a small congregation of earnest workers, which numbered upward of two hundred members whose pastor's family was cared for in a small and unpretentious cottage, while the church was a frame structure that had done service since Rocky Mount was a town of less than 700 people. During the pastorate Dr. Mercer has increased the enrollment of the church by more than 200 members and has brought about the erection and fitting of a handsome parsonage costing upward of $7,000, while the new home of the congregation is easily valued at $50,000 and is one of the handsomest Baptist Churches in N. C. Nor has the work of the pastor ended at Rocky Mount, for there has been established the Calvary Mission church in the Wilford section and a $2,000 church has been built and presented to that congregation.

Dr. Mercer was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Alexandria about a quarter of a century ago.

Clicquot Club

Pronounced Klee-ko
GINGER ALE

Made in America Best in the World

Is Good for the Kiddies

Clicquot is a deliciously sparkling, joyous ginger ale made of finest Jamaica ginger root, pure juices of lemon and limes, cane sugar and deep, bed-rock spring water, highly carbonated. It is stimulating, thirst quenching, brain clearing and taste pleasing.

The pure ginger stimulus makes it safe to drink when you are overheated.

There is no saccharin in Clicquot—no cheap, harmful, coal-tar coloring matter, no soapy foam producers. It is not sold in five cent bottles on account of the cost of bottling and bottles. Every bottle of Clicquot holds two large glasses. You pay no more for Clicquot, but you do get ginger ale that is pure and safe for little children.
